

HUGHES SAYS LEAGUE IS NECESSARY BUT SUGGESTS RESERVATIONS

FAVORS SENATE ACTION AS PROMPTLY AS POSSIBLE, HE SAYS IN LETTER ON VIEWS

Argues for Middle Ground and States Objections to Article X in Reply to Senator Hall's Request.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—A number of reservations to the league of nations covenant have been suggested by Charles Evans Hughes, 66 Broadway, New York City, in an opinion transmitted under date of July 24, to Senator Frederick Hale of Maine. The opinion, as shown by the correspondence made public here today was sent by the Senator in a letter of July 18. The Senator wrote that he is certain that the Senate would not ratify the peace treaty with the covenant as it now stands, but that he personally did not want to see that happen. He said that he had written the letter in the following words:

"United States Senate, July 18, 1919.—Hon. Charles Evans Hughes, 66 Broadway, New York City: My Dear Judge Hughes—Many of us in the Senate are in favor of having the United States enter a league of nations provided that in doing so we do not sacrifice the sovereignty or traditional policies of our country. We believe that the proposed covenant for a league of nations in the peace treaty now before the Senate does make such a sacrifice. Rather than take the covenant as it now stands, I am very certain that considerably more than one-third of the Senate would refuse to ratify the treaty altogether. As far as I am personally concerned I do not want to see that happen and I do want to see some plan devised whereby the United States may safely enter the league of nations. It has seemed to some of us that this result could best be accomplished by attaching certain reservations to the proposed covenant which would limit the participation of the United States in the league. I shall be very glad if you will give me your opinion as to the validity of such reservations and also as to what reservations in your judgment should be made to safeguard the interests of our country. Sincerely yours,

"FREDERICK HALE."

Hughes' reply follows:

July 24, 1919.—Hon. Frederick Hale, U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C. My Dear Senator Hale—I am in receipt of your letter of July 18, and it gives me pleasure to comply with your request by giving you my opinion with respect to the validity and advisability of reservations on the part of the United States in entering the proposed league of nations.

"I permit me to state at the outset the point of view from which I think the questions should be approached. There is plain need for a league of nations, in order to provide for the adequate development of international law, for creating and maintaining organs of international justice and the machinery of conciliation and conference, and for giving effect to measures of international co-operation which from time to time may be agreed upon.

"Immediate Emergency.

"There is also the immediate emergency to be considered. It is manifest that every reasonable effort should be made to establish peace as promptly as possible, and to bring about a condition in which Europe can resume its normal industrial activity.

"I perceive no reason why these objects cannot be attained without sacrificing the essential interests of the United States. There is a middle ground between aloofness and injurious commingling.

"I share the regret that suitable steps have not been taken for the formation of international legal principles and to secure judicial determinations of international disputes by impartial tribunals, and that the hope of the world in the determination of disputes has been made to rest so largely upon the decision of bodies likely to be controlled by considerations of expediency.

"There is merit enough in the proposed plan to make it desirable to secure it, if proper safeguards can be obtained. But it is just as futile to exaggerate its value as it is to see nothing but its defects.

"One must take a light-hearted view of conditions in the world to assume that the proposed plan will guarantee peace, or bring about a cessation of intrigue and of the rivalries of interests, or prevent nations which cannot protect themselves from being compelled to yield to unjust demands where for any reason great Powers have resistance expedient.

"Viewed as Beginning.

"Rather, the proposed covenant should be viewed as a mere beginning, and while it is important that we should have a beginning, it is equally important that we should not make a false start.

"I think that the prudent course is to enter the proposed league with reservations of a reasonable character, adequate to our security and thus to establish a condition of amity at the earliest possible moment.

"As to the validity of reservations. This question has two aspects, first, with respect to the action on our part which is essential to the making of reservations; and, second, as to the effect of reservations upon other parties to the treaty.

"As to the first question, it is manifest that attempted reservations will be ineffectual unless they qualify the act of ratification by the adoption of resolutions by the Senate setting forth its views will not affect the obligations of the covenant. If it is a fact ratified without reservations which constitute part of the instrument of ratification.

"Effect of Reservations.

"If the Senate should adopt reservations by a majority vote, I assume that these will be made part of the proposed resolution of assent to the treaty. The question then then whether the Senate will give its assent, with these reservations, by the requisite two-thirds vote.

"If the proposed reservations are reasonable, the responsibility for the defeat of the treaty, if it is defeated, will lie with those who refuse the vote essential to the assent. If the Senate gives its assent to the treaty, with reservations, the concurrence of the President will still be necessary, as ratification will not be complete without his action, and the responsibility for the ratification with the reservations as adopted by the Senate as a part of the instrument of ratification would thus lie with the President.

"Assuming that the reservations are made as a part of the instrument of ratification, the other parties to the treaty will be notified accordingly. The treaty, of course, will bind only those who consent to it.

"The nation making reservations as a part of the instrument of ratification is not bound by the part of the treaty to which it does not assent. And if a reservation, as a part of the ratification, makes a material addition to, or a substantial change in, the proposed treaty, other parties will not be bound unless they assent.

"Partial Ratification Possible.

"It should be added that where a treaty is made on the part of a number of nations, they may acquiesce in a partial ratification on the part of one or more.

"But where there is simply a statement of the interpretation placed by the ratifying state upon ambiguous clauses in the treaty, whether or not the statement is called a reservation, the case is really one of amendment and acquiescence of them, and the parties to the treaty may readily be inferred unless express objection is made after notice has been received of the ratification with the interpretative statement forming a part of it.

"Statements to safeguard our interests, which clarify ambiguous clauses in the covenant by setting forth our interpretation of them, and especially when the interpretation is one which is urged by the advocates of the covenant to induce support, can meet with no reasonable objection.

"It is not to be supposed that such interpretations will be opposed by other parties to the treaty, and they need not avoid disputes in the future.

"Assumption of Failure.

"Nor should we assume that a reservation would lead to the failure of the ratification, or a resumption of the peace conference, when the reservation leaves unimpaired the main provisions of the covenant looking to the peaceful settlement of disputes, and the organization of conferences, and simply seeks to avoid any apparent assumption of an obligation on our part to join in the future for the cause of peace which cannot now be foreseen, as it is evident that in such case we must inevitably await the future action of the United States in accordance with what may then be the demand of the conscience of the nation.

"In contemplating this experimental, albeit hopeful, enterprise, our security and good faith are primary considerations. Those, either here and abroad, who would oppose such reasonable interpretations or reservations on our part would take a heavy responsibility.

"The question is then what, specifically, should the reservations be?

"(1) With respect to the right of withdrawal (Article 1). It is reasonable to provide that a member withdrawing from the league should not be released from a debt or liability previously incurred. But it is not possible that, through a claim for the performance of an obligation, a member desiring to withdraw should be kept in the league, perhaps indefinitely. I understand that different interpretations have been put upon the clause in question, and I think that there should be a clarifying statement as a part of the ratification.

"Domestic Matters Clause.

"The clause relating to domestic matters, such as immigration or tariff laws, is ambiguous (Article XXV), as it provides for a finding by the Council whether the question is one solely within the domestic jurisdiction. There should be a clear statement of our understanding that such matters, where no international engagement has been made with respect thereto, are not submitted for the consideration or action of the league or of any of its agencies.

"It is urged by the advocates of the covenant that Article XXI recognizes and preserves the Monroe Doctrine. But the descriptive phrase employed in the article is inaccurate and the meaning of the article is far from clear. There should be an interpretative statement which will remove all doubt that the traditional policy of the United States as a purely American question is still maintained. I fully endorse Mr. Root's proposed statement of reservation and understanding upon this point, but in the view that an alternative form of statement may be helpful, I submit one below.

"I agree with Mr. Root that it would be desirable to eliminate Article 10, with its guaranty to 'preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity' of all members of the league. My views as to this article were stated in the enclosed address before the Union League Club (March 26, 1919) and I need not repeat them at length. I still think that article is a trouble-breeder and not a peace-maker.

"Agreement With Root.

"If we are entering upon a new world order of democracy, the inevitable consequence should be recognized. Democracies cannot promise war after the manner of monarchs. It is idle to attempt to compel free peoples to the making of war in an unknown contingency when such a war may be found to be clearly opposed to the dictates of justice. The limitation with respect to 'external aggression' is important but does not meet the difficulty. As the most earnest supporters of the article admit, it may be invoked against a power which has performed all its obligations under the other provisions of the covenant and be the victor in a war' legal under articles 12, 13 and 15.

"While the importance of article 10 is strongly emphasized by its supporters, it is said at the same time that the fulfillment of the engagement would be only according to the plan advised by the council of the league, and as this matter is left upon which the members of the council unanimously agree we could veto any proposed calling for an intervention in what we deemed to be an unsuitable case.

"Again, it is freely recognized that war can only be declared by Congress. Because it is an illusory engagement. Whether we shall go to war to preserve the territorial integrity of another State in a situation not now disclosed or described so that the merits of the case may be judged, or whether we shall go to war to prevent the action of Congress, and that action will be taken according to the conviction of our people as to our duty in the light of the demands of justice as they appear when the exigency arises, is not a detailed negotiation that can be carried on till they return, though a public statement of policy may, of course, be made before March 31, now en route to Japan, gets home.

"Japan's diplomatic representative here, Charge d'Affaires Debuti, went to the Department of State today. Neither he nor officials at the Department would make a statement. But it is the second visit of the Charge d'Affaires in five days.

"Embarrassments Pointed Out.

"The war was invited to make a public statement of her intentions with respect to the return of Kiaochow, but will do so in due course. This does not mean that eventually the whole Shantung question will be cleared up in a way satisfactory to American public opinion and appease the opposition in the American Senate. But for the present there must be indulgence, the Japanese feel that they have not yet returned to Tokyo. Certainly no detailed negotiations can be carried on till they return, though a public statement of policy may, of course, be made before March 31, now en route to Japan, gets home.

This does not mean that eventually the whole Shantung question will be cleared up in a way satisfactory to American public opinion and appease the opposition in the American Senate. But for the present there must be indulgence, the Japanese feel that they have not yet returned to Tokyo. Certainly no detailed negotiations can be carried on till they return, though a public statement of policy may, of course, be made before March 31, now en route to Japan, gets home.

"Japan's diplomatic representative here, Charge d'Affaires Debuti, went to the Department of State today. Neither he nor officials at the Department would make a statement. But it is the second visit of the Charge d'Affaires in five days.

BERLIN, July 28.—Yesterday's German newspapers of Berlin gave a five-column expose of Maximilian's connection with the outbreak of the German revolution last year, including a struggle taking place at German great headquarters at Spa on November 9, last at 24 hours to induce Emperor Maximilian to abdicate.
Material is added to show that Maximilian of Baden, when German Chancellor, finally took the initiative and gave to the Wolff Bulow an official statement that the error had abdicated as Emperor and King of Prussia, although it is averred he had done
so and has never renounced the throne of Prussia.
Maximilian, it is declared,
in this step of his resignation revolutionary movement which was getting out of hand, and by it

the Emperor's advisers to

WAUKESHA, Wis., July 28.—
A boy and a man were crushed yesterday under a passenger train near the Waukesha depot.
The boy, five years of age, was killed, and the man, 45 years of age, was seriously injured.
The train was en route from Chicago to Milwaukee, and was traveling at a speed of 40 miles per hour.
The accident occurred at the Waukesha depot, where the train was stopping for a few minutes.
The boy was standing on the platform, and was struck by the train as it was about to start.
The man was standing on the train, and was crushed between the cars.
The bodies of the boy and the man were found on the platform
and on the train, respectively.
The police are investigating the accident, and are trying to determine the cause of the disaster.
The train was operated by the Chicago and North Western Railroad Company.
The Waukesha depot is one of the busiest in the state, and handles a large amount of passenger traffic.
The accident is the latest in a series of similar disasters which have occurred in the state in recent years.
The railroad company is being sued for damages, and is trying to settle the case as quickly as possible.
The bodies of the boy and the
man will be buried in the state capital, Madison.
The accident has caused a great deal of concern in the state, and has led to a renewed interest in the safety of the railroad system.
The state legislature is considering a bill to increase the safety of the railroad system, and to provide for the compensation of the families of the victims of railroad accidents.
The bill is expected to pass
the legislature in the near

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

ADVISER TO CHINA WHO ASSAILS PEACE PACT

JOHN CALVIN FERGUSON

DESERTED HER, AID TO PRESIDENT SAYS
John Calvin Ferguson, American Adviser to Hsu Shih
Chang, Here to Oppose League of Nations.

TRADE WITH JAPAN CHARGED TO WILSON

Declares Country Feels Shantung Clause Was Agreed on to Gain Chief Desire of American Executive.

The feelings of the Chinese with regard to the Shantung clause of the peace treaty were defined today by a Post-Dispatch reporter by John Calvin Ferguson, American
Adviser to President Hsu Shih
Chang of the Republic of China, who came to St. Louis to speak tonight at the League of Nations meeting in the Coliseum in the event
that Senator Mc Cormick should fail to appear. Senator Mc Cormick, however, arrived today.
"China feels that America, whom she regarded as her only disinterested friend in the world and at whose invitation she entered the World War, has deserted her, yielding to Japan to make possible the chief desire of the American President—a League of Nations," Ferguson said. "That is the nubbin of the whole matter."

In China since 1898.
Ferguson went from his home in New York, where he is a member of the National Institute of China, a Government institution. In 1902 he became secretary of the Chinese Ministry of Commerce and later chief secretary of the Chinese Railroad Administration. He later acted as chief advisor to several Chinese viceroys and when the Republic was set up was looked to as adviser to the President. His present visit to America is for the purpose of opposing the League of Nations. He was not prompted by the Shantung matter, for China at that time did not think such a stand by America could come to pass, he said.
He came to obtain financing for the Chinese Government. Since the Shantung matter has become the chief discussion of the treaty outside the League of Nations, he has appeared with Senator Hiram Johnson of California, at public meetings.

See Reversal of Policy.
The question of Shantung is not new one, though it is a complete reversal by President Wilson not only of the adopted policy of the United States toward China, but also of the adopted policy of the President himself at the opening of his administration," Ferguson said.
The Shantung question is nothing
new, he said, but the old Kiauchau question that led to the famous proclamation by John Hay in 1899 of the principle of the open door for China, and the declaration of her territorial integrity.

"Yet, in the face of that declaration, China today views the Shantung award to Japan as the first step in her territorial dismemberment, not alone at the hands of Japan, but of Great Britain and the French whom she has known in the past as not adverse to gaining whatever ascendancy
they might at the expense of Chinese territory and rights."

When Mr. Wilson came to the presidency a coalition existed between New York bankers, and bankers of France, Germany and Great Britain, for financial operation in China. Mr. Wilson and his advisers were in a coalition inimical to the territorial integrity of China.
The approval of the United States Government to the financial operations was withdrawn.
Opposed by Others.
The Hay proclamation was declined to the court of Berlin by Henry White, now one of America's peace delegates, who opposed the proclamation in his position as "Japan." The President was opposed, also, in his decision by Secretary of State Lansing. It is remembered that Lansing knew China, for he formerly was counselor to the Chinese embassy at Washington.

China by Japan. In the first place where the German Government had only political jurisdiction of Kiauchau, Japan has been given that political jurisdiction, plus ownership of the railway established by German private capital, thus making her ascendancy even more complete than that of Germany.

Demonstrations Over Terms.
"In the second place, by the treaty's provisions Japan is to be permitted to retain a concession under the exclusive jurisdiction of Japan, to be established as a place designated by the Japanese Government. That place will be Tsingtao.
It happens that the entire territory of Kiauchau is thin and sandy, of little value, except that Tsingtao is fertile and valuable. So when Japan does hand back Kiauchau, she will hand back the shell, keeping the kernel."

"Whatever factions of north and south China that were quarreling have united in common denunciation of the peace treaty. Its terms have caused public demonstrations."

Looks to America.
"What does China expect? In the first place, she expects that America
will not go back on the Hay policy.
She knows that America has never renounced territorial aggression and she hopes that America now will not approve a treaty which robs her of her possessions. In the second place, she is not content to struggle
as best she can against the pressure exerted upon her from the outside world, but desires America's help financially and in every other way. She looks to the giant republic to safeguard the republic she herself is setting up."

The expectations of China can only be realized if the United States Senate refuses to ratify the Shantung clause of the treaty."

CITY VETERANIAN BEATEN IN SALOON JULY 7, TRIAL REVEALS

Railroad Fireman Fined $100 and Costs for Assault and Battery on Dr. W. F. Hyde.

It became known today, for the first time that Dr. W. F. Hyde, City Veterinarian, 1215 South Jefferson street, was the victim of an assault on July 7, when Judge Miller in the Court of Criminal Correction fined Joseph Deegan, 3827 Russell avenue,
a railroad fireman, $100 and costs
for assault and battery.

Dr. Hyde testified that on July 7
he was in the saloon of Charles Krametz, 2601 Hickory street,
drinking soda, and that Deegan,
a stranger to him, was drinking at the other end of the bar. Deegan said he stumbled something about him being "one of those public officials," and something more about
"I'm a taxpayer, too," and came up and struck Dr. Hyde in the eye, again

NEGRO DEMANDS EQUAL RIGHTS

By the Associated Press.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 28.— Declaration that before the negroes of the country again will submit to
"many of the injustices which we have suffered, the white men will have to kill more of them than the combined number of soldiers that were slain in the great world war,"
is made in a letter written to President Wilson by the Rev. J. G. Robinson, pastor of the First African Methodist Church at Chattanooga.

The letter appeals for the President's support in behalf of legislation to prevent lynchings, and to force Southern states to place negrees on juries.
NEW YORK, July 28.—Nearly 2000 negroes shouted their approval
here when various speakers addressing a meeting held under auspices of the Equal Rights League urged the adoption of radicalism among negrees as a means of obtaining their rights. One speaker suggested
"following the lead in Washington," while others advised "using all methods, even force," and "making radicalism the essence of our propaganda," and "stopping the white man's training on our toes."

FLOGGING OF STUDENTS IS STILL IN VOGUE IN ENGLAND

Group Who Stated Bath Tender's House Fails to Achieve Honor, However.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 1.—The old custom of flogging students is still in vogue in British colleges, whose students are as old as the hills, and American college men. The custom is most followed in the higher class institutions, so that to have been flogged at school or college is said to be the mark of an aristocrat.
At Cheltenham College the students hazed Barnwell, the bath tender of the college baths, because he had deserted the baths for higher education in an ancient factory. They beat him with sticks and bricks.
Thereupon, Barnwell's workmates
with several hundred of the college and told their story to the principal, Archdeacon Westfield. He was agreed that the students should pay damages and be flogged by the Archdeacon. This was satisfactory to all concerned, including the students.

Because of the number to undergo castigation, lots were drawn so that one out of ten of the student body should get the whip. This also was satisfactory to the students.
But this sporting spirit so impressed the bathkeeper's faction that they proposed that both sides shake hands and call it off, which was done with mutual regrets and complaints.

SEASON OF COMIC OPERA ENDS WITH CLASSIC PROGRAM

Before Audience of 8000, Singers Excel Selves, Reveling in Chance to Sing
Good Music.

RECEIPTS, $68,944;
DEFICIT IS $4969

Next Season's Plans to Begin Jan. 1, and Include Big Shelter From Rain and Better Traffic Facilities.

There was a contagious spirit of festivity in the air last night at the Municipal Theater in Forest Park, when the singers and musicians who had taken part in the six weeks of opera donated their services for a special concert, which, drawing an attendance estimated at more than 8000, succeeded in cutting the sum of $3271 from the loss incurred by the 61 guarantors of the enterprise.

It was announced today that, according to the latest figures available, the deficit will be $4969. The total receipts for the season were $68,944.25, and the total cost was $73,913.25, which is nearly $5000 in excess of earlier estimates. The number of paid admissions was 56, 746, and it is reckoned that 27,000 more saw the performances from the free seats, making a total attendance of 113,746.

Receipts Increased Each Week.

The receipts for each week were as follows: "Robin Hood," $7908.50; "Bohemian Girl," $4848.50; "El Capitán," $3812.25;
"The Mikado," $11,067.75; "Wizard of the Nile," $12,768.75; and "The Chimes of Normandy," including the added concert last night, $18,901.50.
Whether it was the magnificent gathered by the season in its last three weeks, or whether the public believed the opportunity of enjoying
an evening of good music at last,
the receipts were only $7 less than the high record of $3278 hung up at Friday's performance of the "Chimes of Normandy." Certainly the chance of singing some first-class music was tempting to all the artists, who availed themselves of the occasion by putting on an exhibition of excellent vocalism which was as agreeable as it was unexpected.

The principle was again the same. The workmen's zeal and efficiency are multiplied when their task is one commanding his respect and affection.

In the midst of the audience's cordial approval of the program, Mayor Kiel, president of the Municipal Board of Recreation, appeared on the platform.

"I'm not going to sing," cried he,
reassuringly.
"We hope not!" came a chorus of shouts.
He continued, "our opera season is a SUCCESS!" There was fervent handclapping. "At the end of the third week things looked sad indeed. We were $25,000 in debt, and the season was in jeopardy. Then we were taken into consideration. Then we were appealed to the public through the kindness of the St. Louis press, and you responded nobly. I have the honor to announce that the deficit will not exceed $5000!" (A storm of applause.)

"Howling Success," Says Mayor.
The Mayor proceeded to announce that there will be a similar season
next year, probably of eight weeks.
He then offered a resolution which promised that a shelter will be erected outside the theater, stretching from the drive on the farther side of the River des Peres to the top of the hill, so that in case of rain the audience need be drenched. It was added that an increased bus service will be organized so that everyone will be able to ride instead of walk through the park. Plans for the season will be beginning on Jan. 1, and should be able to singers to be chosen far in advance to learn their parts and the chorus to complete a considerable part of its rehearsal
before the opening performance.

"I want to say," shouted the Mayor,
in a final outburst of enthusiasm,
"that this has been a howling success. A roar of laughter greeted the unconscious equivocation, in which the singers joined as merrily as anyone.
The first vocal number comprised the greater part of the second act
of "Faust," sung in English by Craig Campbell as Faust, Blanche Duffield as Marguerite, Mildred Rogers
as Martha, Oyster Bay as the Mephisto. Campbell had been responsible for the most consistent good singing of the season, but few expected the style, the feeling and the dramatic power of his singing.

"Viv' tenor gave to the popular cave," "All Hall, Thou Dwelling Pure and Holy." Miss Duffield exclaimed in the "Jewel Song" any singer she had sung the last weeks, exciting its coloratura passages with flexibility and charming sweetness of tone. Gallagher's big voice pealed forth like an organ, and Miss Rogers
the only one of the quartet who did not keep her eyes glued solemnly upon the music—showed the ease of old acquaintance in the lines belonging to Martha. The fine trio from the Prison Scene (in the last act of "Faust") was added, sung by the contentment of the gathering.

Guskoff Overtook Program.
While well versed in the important solo and concerted numbers of these excerpts, the singers—except

Miss Rogers—seemed to find the passage of dialogue unfamiliar,
with the result that they dragged palpably. All in all, however, the feat, while not in brilliant grand opera style, was creditable to the participants.

The second part of the program
was composed of a potpourri of musical extracts. Carl Gantvoort sang with spirit and clear diction the plaintive air, "It Is Enough," from "Elisjah." In virtuoso skill of execution, the second and third movements of Mendelssohn's violin concerto, played by Michel Guskoff, concertmaster of the Symphony Orchestra, towered like a peak above all the rest of the program. Miss Anne Bussert sang the favorite col-oratura aria, "Ah, fors è lui," from "La Traviata," with a method that reflected first-class training. She is said to have been a pupil of Jean de Reszke. Then came the quartet from "Rigoletto," delivered in Italian by Misses Rogers and Carolyn Andrews, and Messrs. Campbell and Gantvoort.

Succeeding numbers were a basso aria, "I lacerato spirito," intoned by the chorus, and a song from
"Tales of Hoffman," by Misses Bus-sert and Rogers; Rodney's attractive popular song, "I Dream of You," excellently done by Campbell;
and the "Oh, From the Heart," by Miss Rogers, which might have been improved upon. It was noted that in all the operatic numbers, whether in English, Italian or French, Miss Rogers sang without the least falter, and with the roles that she involuntarily added facial expression and gesture to the airs. She formerly did most of the important contralto parts in grand opera.

Moulán Jazzes the Sextet.

The appearance of Frank Moulán
to sing the part of Lord Arthur Bucklaw in the sextet from "Lucia"
appealed to the risibles of the audience, and he received a warm response. He sang with vigor and shouts of laughter. He rewarded his admirers with a series of monkey shins, pretending not to know his few lines, snatching at Gantvoort's music and begging Gallagher to sing the part of the sextet. His mimicry to show him the place. These antics did not please those who wished to hear the sextet, for they disturbed the other singers, worried them into losing the time with the orchestra, and prevented the selection of a number. His unfortunate colleagues were Misses Duffield and Rogers, and Messrs. Campbell, Gantvoort and Gallagher. On account of the length of the program there were no encores.

The Chinese opera was sung by Victor Herbert's "American Fantasy."
When the melody of "The Star-Spangled Banner" was reached, Director John McGhie, who at the beginning of the program had received
an evening of good music at last,
onstration on his own account, summoned the audience to join in.
So, with thousands of voices bearing the strains of the national anthem across the darkened hall, and the music of the stars, there came to an end the pioneer season of opera
sponsored by any city in America.

CLEMENCEAU VISITS AMIENS

Crowds Sweep Premier Along and He Promises Full Assistance.

PARIS, July 28.—Premier Clemenceau spent Sunday touring the devastated regions of the Somme
and everywhere received a warm welcome. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter. At Amiens
the crowd broke the lines and swept the Premier along to the city hall, where the mayor enumerated the wants of the city. M. Clemenceau, his voice broken with emotion, recalled the events of a year ago.

"At Abbeville," the Premier said,
"we asked ourselves ought we arrest
the march on Paris or prevent the march on the sea. We decided on the both viewpoints were defended. A great allied chief said to me one day,
'If Paris falls what shall we do?'
which has helped to make France,
which has helped to make France,
and what I said of Paris I say also
of all the noble cities of France,
which, like Amiens, here in the battle, you ask me 'What are we going to do?' I reply everything, for there could be no greater injustice than to let France shiver herself
dismembered."

ABUSED CHILDREN, FINED $100

Story Refuses to Accept Prisoners'

John Quirk, 2614 1/2 Howard street, was before Police Judge Mox today on a charge of abusing his children. His wife testified that he had beaten her yesterday and that fact accounted for his conduct.
"She only imagined I was that way," Quirk said. Quirk said, "How long have you been married?" The judge asked.
"Twenty years," replied the defendant.
"Well, she ought to know what

DAYLIGHT BILL UP THIS WEEK

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Chairman Cummins of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee announced today that the separate House bill proposing repeal of the daylight saving law would be reported this week. Opponents of the repeal legislation believe that President Wilson will veto the bill for the same reason that he disapproved the repeal of the agricultural bill, and that the veto cannot be overridden.

Slain Bear Was to Bring Funds for Boy's Operation

Killing of Escaped Pet, "to Protect Community," Shatters Plans of Montana Youth With Injured Foot.

Harold Dennis, 14 years old, limped on his crutches around the yard of a sanitarium here today,
and wondered how he is to pay for the operation which was planned to straighten his crooked ankle. One of his two pet bear cubs, which were to have been sold to pay for the operation, was shot and clubbed
by the police here yesterday afternoon by a youth intent on "protecting" the community.

Harold was called into the office of the sanitarium today to hear the news of the death of one of his pets.
He comes from the mountain country near Ennis, Mont. He pulled his cap down over his eyes, as he turned on his crutches.
"They needn't have been afraid of him; he couldn't hurt a rabbit," he said, as he hobbled out.

Needed $250 for Operation.
The Dennis family is not wealthy,
and it always had been his hope that they should save money enough to pay for such an operation as was necessary to cure the twisted ankle.
A few months ago, however, neighbors captured the pair of cubs, and gave them to Harold to rear until they were large enough to bring a
They soon became chums of the boy.

Two months ago the representative of a menagerie offered him $95
for one of them, but he and his father believed they could get more farther east. They needed $250.

TEMPORARY ORDER AGAINST ENDING CAR 'AD' CONTRACT

and its contract with a view to determining if the United Railways is being amply remunerated.
1495 Cars Are Available.
There are 1495 cars available to the advertising company for its cards. Wells has its advertising cards, as distributed on a lead to its customers, which show the number of cars in each car. Other rates for one month are $411.40. To run
a card in half of the cars; $224.40
to run a card in one-fourth of the cars.
The United Railways charges the minimum cost is $747.50 a month. For one card in each car. Other rates
a card in half of the cars; $224.40
to run a card in one-fourth of the cars.

According to the advertising company's figures, its revenue from the 38 cards in each car—18 on each side, not counting the cards in front,
for which it is charged a separate rate, would be $28,920 a year, on the basis of a full run for each advertiser. A substantial sum is added to this by the front cards.
Advertising men say that the operating revenue is a modest sum,
half and quarter runs, and that these higher rates, with the front cards, should yield more than $400,000 a year.
With these figures in his mind, Reverend Wells would like to understand why the United Railways is receiving only $64,000 a year for the use of its cars.

Edward F. Dunne of Irish-American Mission Tells of Reception in Paris

How Men From United States Started Work

Wilson Received Representative and Turned Him Over to House, Who Referred Him to Lloyd George.

This is the first in a series of 19 articles by Edward F. Dunne, former Governor of Illinois, a member of the Irish-American mission to the peace conference, on the observations of the party on its trip to Paris and Ireland. The second article, dealing directly with the mission's stay in Ireland, will appear in an early issue of the Post-Dispatch.

By EDWARD F. DUNNE.
On April 6, 1917, the United States declared war upon Germany. No element in the United States entered more heartily into the prosecution of that war than did the American citizens of Irish descent. Among many other citizens of Irish lineage, I advocated in public speeches conscription and prosecution of the war to the limit.

The purposes of the war were outlined by our great president in many public utterances, and among those purposes he declared the "right of all peoples to self-determination," "absolute freedom of navigation upon the seas outside of the territorial waters alike in peace and in war," and "affording mutual guarantees of political independence and territorial integrity to great and small nations alike." (President Wilson's address on war aims of Jan. 8, 1918.)

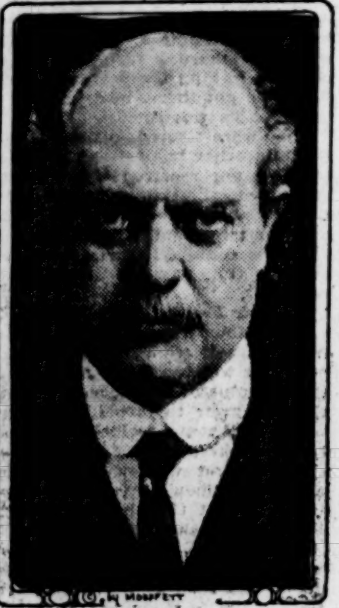

Along the same lines Lloyd George, the British Premier, also declared: "Equality of right among the nations, small as well as great, is one of the fundamental issues of this country and her allies are fighting to establish in this war."

Government with the consent of the governed must be the basis of any territorial settlement in this war." (Lloyd George's address of Jan. 5, 1918.)

The war begun by America for such among other purposes was won by American valor and American resources.

The commissioners appointed by the victorious nations assembled in Paris to settle the terms of peace and to create a league of nations. The people of Ireland, confiding in these declarations of the purposes of the war, including self-determination of weaker nations, seized the opportunity of the general election of December, 1918, to declare unmistakably its national will.

Form Parliament of Ireland. Only 126 (out of 105) constituencies of the country was England able to find enough "loyalists" to return members favorable to the union between Ireland and Great Britain. For the remaining 79 seats the electors chose as members, men who believed in self-determination. Of these, 73, who now represent an immense majority of the people, sought election as Republican candidates and each of these Republican members pledged himself to assist by every means in his power the right of Ireland to the complete independence which she demands, under a national Republican Government, free from all English interference.

On the 21st day of January, 1919, those of the Republican members whom England had not yet cast into her prisons met in the Irish capital in a national assembly, to which as the only Irish Parliament de jure, they had summoned all the elected Irish members of Parliament; on the same day the National Assembly unanimously voted a formal declaration of independence.

Send Delegates to Paris. The National Assembly also caused a detailed statement of the case of Ireland to be drawn up, and appointed three members, Eamon de Valera, Arthur Griffith and Count Plunkett, to present the statement to the peace congress and to the league of nations commission in the name of the Irish people.

The representatives of the people of Ireland, through their envoys, Shaun T. O'Kelly and Gavin Duffy, went to Paris and requested a hearing of Ireland's case before the representatives of the victorious Powers sitting in Paris.

Up to the first of February, 1919, so far as the news published in the public prints indicated, Ireland's case was not considered or even mentioned at the Paris conference. American citizens of Irish lineage had assumed up to this time that the case of Ireland, as well as the case of other weaker nations, would be taken up and disposed of at the conference.

Philadelphia Convention Called. Alarmed at the ominous silence at Paris in reference to Ireland, a convention of American citizens of Irish blood was called at Philadelphia on Feb. 22, 1919. This convention was numerously attended, some 5132 delegates being present from all parts of the United States.

Resolutions declaring for Ireland's right of self-determination were adopted unanimously, the most important one being offered by Cardinal Gibbons, and an Executive Committee of 25 was appointed for the purpose of assisting in every possible way Messrs. de Valera, Griffith and Plunkett in getting a hearing before the conference in Paris. We accepted the commission with sincerity of purpose and confidence in the justice of Ireland's claim for self-determination.

Nationally, the race, the language, the customs and traditions of Ireland are radically different from the English. Ireland is one of the most ancient nations in Europe and has preserved her national integrity, vigorous and intact, through more than seven centuries of foreign oppression. She never relinquished her national rights, and throughout the long era of English usurpation she has in every generation defiantly proclaimed her inalienable right of nationhood.

Essential to Freedom of Seas. Internationally, Ireland is the gateway of the Atlantic. Ireland is the last outpost of Europe toward the West. Ireland is the point upon which great trade routes between the East and West converge. Her independence is demanded for the freedom of the seas. Her great harbors should be open to all nations, instead of being the monopoly of England. Today these harbors are empty and idle solely because English policy is determined to retain Ireland as a barren bulwark for English aggrandizement, and the unique geographical position of this island, far from being a benefit and safeguard to Europe and America, is subjected to the purposes of England's policy of world dominion.

Ireland today reasserts her historic nationhood the more confidently before the new world emerging from the war, because she believes in freedom and justice as the fundamental principles of international law; because she believes in a frank co-operation between peoples for equal rights against the vested privileges of ancient tyrannies; because the permanent peace of Europe can never be secured by perpetuating military dominion for the profit of the empire, but only by establishing the control of government in every land upon the basis of the free will of a free people. The existing state of war between Ireland and England can never be ended until Ireland is definitely evacuated by the armed forces of England.

Received with Courtesy. We went to Paris bearing credentials of this great convention and taking with us, we are confident, the good will and favor of all liberty-loving Americans. Both the American officials in America and the French officials in France extended to us more than usual courtesies and consideration. We were met on the steamer before landing at Havre by Maj. de la Chappelle, in behalf of M. Tardieu of the French ministry, who extended to us a cordial welcome to France, and expedited in every possible way the formalities which attend landing in the country.

In Paris we were waited upon by other French officers detailed by the same French statesman, who accompanied our visit to Versailles and to the Chamber of Deputies. M. Tardieu, himself, accorded us a most gracious and extended interview.

The President of the United States accorded our chairman a most gracious and lengthy interview, expressed sympathy with the Irish cause and referred us to Mr. Hoover. We are satisfied, from intercourse with people of all nationalities, that we met on La Touraine going over.

and in Paris, that we have the sympathy of men and women of all classes and races.

Consent to Meet Lloyd George. As the result of the conference with President Wilson and Mr. House, we were advised by Mr. House that, in his opinion, the Irish delegates would be permitted to go to Paris with assurances of safe conduct, but that Mr. Lloyd George desired to meet us and discuss the Irish situation. We consented to meet him and a date for the interview was tentatively fixed.

We were afterward informed that Mr. Lloyd George could not meet us on that date owing to the press of business in connection with the preparation of the final draft of the terms of peace to be presented to the German commissioners.

Pending the fixing of another date for such interview, which it must be borne in mind was not requested by us, it was agreed between the representatives of the American Government and ourselves that we should be given passports to Great Britain and Ireland to enable us to confer with Messrs. de Valera, Count Plunkett and Arthur Griffith, and other Irish leaders in Ireland, and to acquaint ourselves first-hand with the present condition of Ireland and its people, and the American, British and French embassies co-operated promptly and diligently to perfect our passports.

Mission Openly Political. These passports were diplomatic in character and expressly stated upon their faces that we were going to Ireland upon an "unofficial political mission." Indeed, from the very start our mission to Europe was avowedly political in its character. Mr. Walsh, in the written application for our passports filed in the office of the Secretary of State in Washington, stated that we were going to Europe with the avowed purpose of enabling the Irish nation to secure recognition as an independent republic before the peace conference of the Powers being held in Paris.

No restrictions were suggested or imposed upon us in the granting of these passports and the whole world had been informed by the newspapers of the mandate imposed upon us by the resolutions adopted by the Irish race convention held in Philadelphia on Feb. 22, 1919. These resolutions were adopted in open convention and published in great detail by the American press, and in substance directed us to secure a hearing for the Irish nation of their right to self-determination of government. Ireland's Voice Is Heard.

DUNNE TELLS OF RECEPTION TO IRISH COMMISSION IN PARIS

That determination was made by the Irish people in December, 1918, when they overwhelmingly declared for a republic. We went, therefore, to Ireland to confer with the duly elected representatives of the Irish people, to see first hand the condition of Ireland, and to do what lay within our power to secure the hearing of Ireland's claim to nationhood as a republic from the world conference. Lloyd George and the whole British Government knew our aims and purposes. There was no disguise or dissimulation of the character of our mission, and no restrictions were imposed upon or even suggested to us.

Upon our arrival in Kingstown, Ireland, we were amazed at the widespread publicity given to our visit. The whole press of England and Ireland was full of it, and a crowd of from 6000 to 8000 met us on the pier. Among these were Mr. de Valera, who had been elected president of the Irish republic; Count Plunkett, Arthur Griffith and about 20 more duly elected members of the Irish Parliament.

Escorted to Dublin.

We were escorted by a great crowd to a private mansion on Fitzwilliam square, Dublin, and passed the following day, Sunday, in visiting Glendalough, one of the beauty spots of Ireland.

The following day we went to Belfast and passed a most interesting and enjoyable day in that metropolis of Ulster, visiting the great ship-building plants of Harland & Wolff, Gallagher's great tobacco factory, and other places of interest. We called upon the city authorities at the city hall, but found the Lord Mayor too busy to receive us. We found Belfast to be a busy and prosperous city, largely engaged in shipbuilding and linen manufacture.

Although Belfast is strongly "unionist," our reception by the people was most cordial and pleasant. We were tendered a largely attended luncheon at one of the hotels, and driven about the city afterward, visiting Bishop Macarty and attending a tea at Mr. McCullough's.

Nearly Lost His Overcoat.

Indeed, the cordiality of our reception nearly resulted in the loss of my overcoat. On attempting to enter the station my overcoat was nearly dragged off my back by the cheering crowds around the building, which must have been several thousand strong.

On the way back from Belfast to Dublin there were cheering crowds at every station, the burden of whose song was "the republic." Indeed during the 10 days we passed in Ireland the cry of "Up the republic!" greeted our ears in every city, village and hamlet in the land.

Our eyes were first opened to the almost universal demand for the republic upon our arrival in Dublin that Monday night. At least 20,000 cheering, shouting, surging men and women were in and around the station. It was almost impossible to get from the train to the waiting autos and when we got to the autos we were unable to start for several minutes.

No Police in Sight.

Finally we heard orders shouted in hoarse voices by men in civilian clothes, who evidently were possessed of some unofficial authority. For some reason or other, the police, which seemed ubiquitous elsewhere, were not to be seen. At the sound of these voices, however, a strange thing happened. The crowd stopped shouting, the cry of "Gangway!" went up from many voices, and the crowd in front of the autos was pressed by two rows of men holding hands. These two rows gradually but surely pressed back the good-natured crowd on both sides of the autos, and in front of the same for several hundred feet, and the autos started on a slow pace through the streets of Dublin, accompanied by at least 10,000 men and women.

This enormous crowd actually escorted us for two miles through the streets to the residence of Fitzwilliam square, and cheered us for half an hour after we entered the building.

Every housewife—every MAN of the home—should read the following letter:

"The service we have enjoyed in our household from a Thor Washing Machine, purchased from you seven or eight years ago, has been really remarkable. We have a family of three small children, consequently the laundry work has been quite heavy and the Thor has been run weekly, and very frequently twice a week for all this time without ever falling down on the job, and the machine today is in good working order, capable to do the washing for a long time to come.

"We figured out the other day that the Thor has actually saved us $600, in addition to the great satisfaction and the saving in time, the elimination of arranging for laundresses and looking after their wants, to say nothing of the disappointing quality of the work when it is necessary to change laundresses.

"We have had the greatest satisfaction from our Thor machine, and we look upon it as indispensable to the household. We would advise the purchase of a Thor Washing Machine long before the fine furniture or solid silver, or even a piano, is thought of.

"We are so enthusiastic about it that we feel that we could convince the most doubting prospect you ever got hold of. Cordially yours,

CONGRESS PREPARES TO WELCOME PERSHING

Plans Gift of Sword, Vote, Thanks and Permanent Rank of General.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The House of Representatives today prepared to welcome General Pershing on his return home. The plan was made by both Congress and the War Department, but the plan of neither are yet complete.

The congressional program, however, already drafted, calls for the gift of a sword, a vote of thanks, and a permanent rank of General on the retired list of the American Expeditionary Forces. War Department plans have not yet been completed and are awaiting receipt of information as to the time of Gen. Pershing's return.

Chairman Kahn of the House Military Committee, announced the meeting of his committee would be held during the week to approve a bill, drafted at President Wilson's request, which authorizes the award of the permanent rank of General on Pershing. Preliminary committee discussion already has indicated that there will be no opposition to the proposal.

Congressional rewards to army officers for distinguished services are divided into three classes: (1) the thanks of the Congress; (2) brevet rank; (3) increased rank on the active or on the retired list.

From 1789 to 1903, the thanks of Congress were extended to 29 officers for services in the war of 1812, the Mexican War and the Civil War. Since 1903, the thanks of Congress have been extended only to 15 army officers—these for distinguished service in constructing the Panama Canal.

The rank of General has been given to few officers, among them Gen. Sherman and Sheridan. The death of Gen. Sheridan was the last to exist and was not revived until the world war, when temporary rank was given to Pershing and Peyton C. March, as Chief of Staff.

CONFESSES MURDER OF GIRL, AND REVEALS BURIED NO

Chicago Watchman Breaks Down and Tells of Strangling Neighbor's Child.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Thomas Fitzgerald, 39 years old, yesterday confessed to the police that he killed Janet Wilkinson, 6 years old, neighbor's child, last Tuesday, strangling her. Then he acknowledged to the police that he had concealed the body beneath coal under the basement steps and it was recovered.

Fitzgerald, after five sleepless days and nights, constantly kept under examination, called for an officer and made his confession, alternately moaned and sobbed as he talked, pouring out words of anguish as he gave the details of his crime.

A crowd surrounded the Fitzgerald home when the body was removed and later went to the police station and surrounded it.

Fitzgerald was night watchman at the Virginia, a highly reputable residential hotel. He lived in a neighborhood. In the same building lived the Wilkinson family. Janet was one of four children, the youngest being a girl. She was a pretty child and was beloved of her neighbors. Last December, Fitzgerald first showed a sinister attraction for the child. The father testified the inquest. She came home at being at his home and told a story of mistreatment. The parents preferred to hush up the affair and Fitzgerald escaped prosecution.

The police gave credit to Romanoff, a newspaper reporter, finally breaking down Fitzgerald's stubborn denial. Romanoff stayed by the prisoner's cell and at frequent intervals kept asking him while Janet was and to tell what he knew.

ROBS JEWELRY STORE

Went to See Rings and Pulls Cash Drawer From Counter.

A negro went into the jewelry store of Jacob Shapiro, 714 Franklin street, at 10 a. m. today and asked Shapiro, who was alone in the store, to show him some rings. As Shapiro turned back and walked toward a tray of rings, the negro slipped under the counter and drew out a cash drawer.

Shapiro turned and discovered him and started to advance. He threatened her with a knife, and when backed out of a rear door, where he removed the money, $22.84, dropped the drawer and escaped.

SOCIETY OUT IN FORCE AT OPEN AIR CONCERT

Most of Fashionable People Still in City at Closing of Opera Season.

MOVED partly by the love of music, partly by civic pride and partly, perhaps, by a desire to find a cool spot, most of the society people who are still in the city attended the closing concert of the Municipal Opera season at Forest Park last night.

This is only another incident which serves to show that the affairs which are most successful in attracting society this time of the year are those held at fresco. The French Fete, which was held recently at Forest Park Highlands, was another indication of this.

Some of the society folks seen at the concert last night were: Mayor and Mrs. Kiel, Mr. and Mrs. John Lonsdale, Martin Collins, Charles Lange, Isaac Hedges, Nelson Cunningham, Howard Watson, James Francis, G. A. Buder, James Bannerman, August Mash, Charles P. Johnson, Richard Haves, William E. Roife, John Hall, Herbert Cost, Messrs. Joseph Gillman Miller, Eugene Cuenet and Otto Rugg.

WOMEN ESCAPE IN GAMBLING RAID

By the Associated Press. MINNEAPOLIS, N. Y., July 28.—Nearly 40 handsomely gowned women rushed panic-stricken from a residence in Cedarhurst, near here, early yesterday following a raid on the house, where gambling is said to have been in progress. Despite a heavy downpour, the women succeeded in forcing their way past the guards and escaping over muddy fields.

The raid was made by members of the State Constabulary and several policemen, although it is said to have been inspired by wealthy Nassau County residents, who for some time have been aroused by reports of society gambling in their midst. The raiders entered the house with drawn revolvers. Three men and a truck load of gambling paraphernalia were taken by the raiders, who said that some of the poker chips were marked as high as $1000.

The association has decided to

MAN AND DAUGHTER DROWNED

Two Missouri Children Rescued; Child Towed Out by Dog.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 28.—
William Cox, 40 years old, a Taney County farmer, and a daughter, 16 years old, were drowned late Saturday in Fall Creek, near White River. The bodies were taken out a short time after they went under.
Both could swim and it is thought the girl was seized with cramps and called her father.
Two other children came near drowning in shallow water and were rescued. Another child was towed from the water by hanging to the tail of a dog.

MIDSUMMER FILMS

ARE FAIRLY DIVERTING

Moral and Domestic Problems and Western Plays Hold Screen.

Two film plays on the current week's bill, "When Men Betray," at the New Grand Central and "As a Man Thinks" at the Pershing are a screen discussion of the double standard of morals. In "When Men Betray" the leading parts are taken by Gail Kane and Stuart Holmes and the picture is frankly exploited as "sensational," an unusual adjective
in the New Grand Central's vocabulary.

"As a Man Thinks" carries the magic Augustus Thomas name
because it is based on a stage play
of the same title which he wrote,
but the usual license has been used in adapting it to the screen. The leading roles are in the hands of Leah Baird and Henry Clive. On the bill also is Alma Rubens in "A Man's Country."
William S. Hart, in the character of a desert avenger, is the prime attraction at the Kings, Mozart and Loew's Garrick in "Wagon Tracks," a strong Western play. On the Kings and Mozart bills also is "Better Times" with Zasu Pitts in the leading role. It tells the story of how Nancy, a poor but ambitious girl takes possession of a run-down hotel and puts it on a paying basis after many strange and amusing experiences.

Dorothy Gish is seen at the West End Lyric in "Nugget Nell." This
"cute" little star would be about the last person one would suspect of having talent in a Western role, but she carries the part of the self-reliant
and pugnacious Nell as though it was made for her. It is a two-gun part in which she makes bad men dance to the patten of her bullets
and does many other surprising things.
The drink evil (funeral next January) is the basic motive of "The Weaker Vessel" in which Mary Mac-Laren is starred at the Liberty. This of course is linked up with the marriage and divorce question. On the bill also is a diverting comedy,
"Betty's Burglar" with Constance Talmadge in the leading role and
"Just Neighbors," a rollicking Harold Lloyd comedy.

RESIGNATION OF MISS CARR CAUSES LITTLE SURPRISE

Board Has Not Received Letter Relinquishing Place as President of Women's Advertising Club.

The resignation of Miss Lillian Carr, president of the Women's Advertising Club, from membership in the organization, copies of which were made public Saturday, has not yet reached the Executive Board, although news of it occasioned little surprise among the members.
It was said that Miss Carr differed with other members of the board on questions of policy. She did not approve of the by-laws of the organization, it was said, and was desirous of adopting a course not favored by the more conservative members of the board. In her letter of resignation
she stated that she found it impossible to work with the board.

"The eight other members of the board found it equally impossible to work with Miss Carr," said Mrs.
Julius Shipley Carroll, secretary of the club. "It is just recently that she has found fault with the by-laws
after they had been in force for two years."
Miss Carr's resignation probably will reach the Executive Board in time for its meeting Wednesday. She is out of town, but is expected to return tonight. In the event that the resignation is accepted Miss Mary Wheat, vice president, will automatically become acting president until the annual election in October. The club is about four years old and has a membership of about 40.

Bartender Asserts He Was Entertaining
Friends; Negro Porters
Charged With Selling Whisky.

A party at the home of Joseph Dills, a bartender, 411 South Fourteenth street, was interrupted by policemen last night when they found 46 bottles of beer on ice, a quart of whisky under a mattress on a bed,
and some empty beer bottles lying about the room. Three friends, who were being entertained, were not arrested. Dills declared he was entertaining a private party and had violated no laws. He was held for investigation.

Two negro porters at the Aberdeen Hotel, 1532 Market street, were arrested after William A. Givens of Baden City, Va., a guest at the hotel, had told policemen he was charged $2 a pint when he bought a pint of whisky from each of the porters.
Givens said he drank one of the pints and had retired to his room.
When he awakened from a nap, he said, he found he had been robbed of a portion of the second pint. The negroes, Samuel Mackey and Julius Marshall, are held for the Federal authorities. They denied selling Givens the liquor.

O. Henry and Al Jennings

(Copyright, 1919, by Al Jennings)

CHAPTER ONE

A wilderness of snow—wind tearing like a ruffian through the white silence—the bleak pines setting up a sudden roar—a woman and four children hurrying through the waste.

And abruptly the woman stumbling exhausted against a fence corner and the four children screaming in terror at the strange calamity that had overtaken them. The woman was my mother—the four children, the oldest 8, the youngest 2, were my brothers. I was born there in that fence corner in the snow in Tazewell County, Virginia, November 20, 1863. My brothers ran wild through the Big Basin of Burke's Gardens crying for help. My mother lay there in a fainting collapse from her five days' flight from the Tennessee plantation.

Leave Everything! Warning by Courier.

The Union soldiers were swooping down on our plantation. My father, John Jennings, was a Colonel in the Confederate Army. He sent a courier warning my mother to leave everything, to take the children and to cross the border into Virginia. The old home would be fired by the rebel soldiers to prevent occupation by Union troops.

A few of the old negroes left with her. They were but an hour on the road. They looked back. The plantation was in flames. At the sight the frightened darkies fled. My mother and the four young ones went on. Sixty miles they tramped, half running, half walking, and always beset with danger. Frank was so little he had to be carried. Sometimes they were knee deep in slush, sometimes they were slipping in the mud. The raw wind cut to the bone. It was perhaps as terrible and as bitter a journey as a woman ever took.

Poverty in Loft of Cabin Church.

I was born in a snow heap reared in a barn. They picked my mother up and carried her in a rickety old cart to the mountains. Jack and Zeb, the two oldest, had sent their panicky clamor through the waste. A woodsman answered.

The loft of an old log cabin church in the Blue Ridge Mountains was our home in those hungry years of the Civil War. We had nothing but poverty. There was never enough to eat. We heard no word from my father. Suddenly in 1865 he returned and we moved to Marietta, Ill. I remember our home there. I remember our habitual starvation. We lived in an empty tobacco barn. There was hardly a stick of furniture in the place. Frank and I used to run wild about the bare rooms. I know I was always longing and dreaming of good things to eat.

Before the war my father was a physician. A little sign on our barn tempted a few patients to try his skill, and gradually he built up a meager practice. All at once, it seemed, his reputation grew and he became quite a figure in the town. He had never studied law, but he was elected District Attorney.

It was as though a fairy charm had been cast over us. And then my mother died. It broke the spell. There was something grim and fighting and stubborn about her.

She Was Too Strong to Complain.

In all the misery of our pinched days I never heard her complain. She was perhaps too strong. When she died it was like the tearing up of a prop. The home went to pieces.

Frank and I were the youngest. A pair of stray dogs we were, grubbing about in alleys, basking in the top floor of an old store house, earning our living by gathering coal off the sandbars of the Ohio River. We sold it for 10c a bushel. Sometimes we made as much as 15c in two days. Then we would stuff ourselves with pies and doughnuts. Usually our dinner was an uncertain and movable feast. Nobody troubled about us. Nobody told us what to avoid. We were our own law.

We were little savages, fighting to survive. Nothing in our lives made us aware of any obligations to others. It was hardly an ideal environment wherein to raise law-respecting citizens.

"That's Paw! He's Asleep Out There!"

My father tried to keep some sort of a home for us, but he was often away for weeks at a time. One night Frank met me at the river. His eyes stuck out like a cat's in the dark. He grabbed me by the coat and made me run along with him. He stopped suddenly and pointed to a great, black lump huddled against the door of Shrieber's store.

"That's paw," he said. "He's asleep out there."

Shame like a hot wave swept over me. I wanted to get him away. I was fond of him and I didn't want the people in the town to know. I ran up and caught him by the shoulder. "Paw, get up, get up," I whispered.

He sat up, his face stupid with sleep. Then he saw me and struck out a furious blow that sent me reeling to the curb. White hot with anger and hurt affection, I got up and ran like a little man to the river.

I threw myself on the sandbar and beat the ground in a fury of resentment. I was crushed and enraged. I wanted to get away, to strike out alone.

I knew the boats like a river rat. They were loading freight. I crawled in among the boxes on the old Fleetwood and I got to Cincinnati as forlorn and wretched as any runaway kid.

Worked Like Slave and Refused Pay.

But I was a little cranky. I made up my mind to be a musician. I could play the trombone. The Volks Theater, a cheap beer garden, took me on. I worked like a slave for four days. Saturday night I went around to the manager and asked for my pay. I was starved. I had only eaten what I could pick up. For four days I had hauled the saloon lug counters. I used to sneak in, grab a sandwich, duck, grab another and get kicked out.

"You many little ragamuffin," the manager swore, with more oaths than I had ever heard before. "Get out of here!"

He knocked me against the wall. I had an old bulldog pistol. I fired at him and ran. The shot went wild. I saw that, but I saw, too, that I had to run. I didn't stop until I had climbed onto a blind baggage car bound for St. Louis. Then I crept into a hog car, pulled the hay over me and slept until I was dumped off at the stock yards in Kansas City.

Fight Wins Home in the Stock Yards.

It was the first time I was on the dodge. It is an ugly thing for a boy of 11 to attempt murder, but self-protection was the only law I knew. Society might shelter on other youngsters. I had to fight for almost every crust I had ever eaten. I was forced to take the law in my own hands or be beaten down by the gaunt poverty that warped my early life.

It was fight that won me a brief home at the stock yards. I had a scrap with the kid that was the shambles. We fought to a finish. Grown men stood about and shouted with laughter. Blood streamed from my nose and mouth. The fight was a draw. The terror's father came over and shook my hand. I went home with them and stayed for a month. The kid and I would have died for each other in a week. We cleaned out every other youngster in the yard. The kid's mother, cleanly and temperate as she was, had the sunny kindness of people that have hungered and suffered. She was like a mother to me.

Over the Plains in Schooner Wagon.

On an old schooner wagon we started across the plains together. Near the little town of Lajunta, Colo., came the catastrophe that wrecked my existence.

Al Brown got hold of some whiskey. We stopped for the night in the midst of the prairie. The beans were boiling on the open fire. He walked up to the fire, looked into the saucepan. "Beans again," he snarled, and kicked the dinner to the ground. Without a word his wife took up the frying pan and beat him over the head. He went out—cold.

The kid and I had to run out to the edge of the prairie. We always did when they started to scrap.

She came out, hooked up the team and began dumping in her things and the kid's.

"Johnny, get your duds; we're going to leave," she said. I never felt so isolated in my life. The kid didn't want to leave me. I started to cry. It was getting terribly dark. The woman came back. "Honey, I can't take you," she said.

I was afraid of the dark, afraid of the silence. I caught hold of her. She pushed me away, climbed up on the wagon and drove off, leaving me alone on the prairie with the man she thought she had murdered.

NEW OUTBREAK IN RACE TROUBLE IN CHICAGO QUELLED

Negro Fires on Wagon Load of White Workmen Following Fatal Riots of Last Night.

TROUBLE STARTED AT A BATHING BEACH

Negro Boy Drowned; White Boys Threw Stones, Knocking Him Off Raft, Police Version.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Trouble between whites and negroes, following last night's fatal riots, was renewed in Chicago's negro district today, when Moses Thomas, a negro, fired several shots at a wagonload of white workmen being taken to a South Side factory. When an attempt was made by whites to disarm Thomas, a dozen negroes rushed to his assistance. The police quelled the disturbance and reported that nobody had been injured.

The disturbance occurred on Wentworth avenue, between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-seventh streets, where many negro workmen reside. A riot call was sent to the Deering Street Police Station, but when a wagonload of patrolmen arrived on the scene the fighting was over. Hundreds of white men and negroes were gathered in groups on the sidewalk and a patrolman had Thomas in custody. The police dispersed the crowds and withdrew.

The race rioting in the negro district of the city last night resulted in the death of two negroes and the injury of perhaps 50 whites and negroes, including four policemen.

Origin of the Trouble.

Accounts of the origin of the trouble differ, but the version accepted by the police today is that the fighting started at the Twenty-ninth street bathing beach, where the whites and negroes are accustomed to swim in Lake Michigan, although the two races are separated by an imaginary line.

This version says that a negro boy on a raft crossed the boundary line and that white boys threw stones, knocking the negro lad into the water. He was drowned.

A general fight developed between the races and riot calls brought several hundred police into the negro district, the center of which is around Thirty-first and State streets, more than a mile from the beach. Negroes asked the police to arrest a white boy and when he refused the negroes began to beat the white lad. Negro bathers from another beach at Twenty-fifth street attracted by the fighting came in force and soon stones and clubs were hurled in all directions, many persons, both white and negro, being injured. After the fighting near the beach had been quelled, trouble broke out farther west near the center of the negro district.

Policeman Shoots Negro.

John O'Brien, a policeman, was attacked by a mob at Twenty-ninth and State streets after he had tried to rescue a fellow policeman from a crowd of negroes. Several shots were fired in his direction and he was struck in the arm. He drew his revolver and fired into the crowd, three negro men being hit, one of whom died later in a hospital.

After the police reserves had dispersed the crowds along State street and other parts of the thickly populated colored district, whites from other parts of the city dragged negroes from street cars and beat them severely in several instances during the night, but, according to the police records early today, only two fatalities resulted from the rioting.

Many stray shots were heard during the night and the police answered the riot calls early today, but their services were not required in either instance.

It is estimated that there are close to 150,000 negroes in Chicago, nearly 50,000 of whom were drawn here during the last three or four years by the attractive wages in shops and factories engaged in manufacturing war materials. Nearly all of the negroes live on the South Side of the city and many have acquired property in desirable neighborhoods occupied by the whites. This has led to many minor clashes between the races and in a number of instances in recent months bombs have been exploded in buildings occupied by negroes.

Regular Soldiers Withdrawn From Washington; Provost Guard on Duty.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—All the 2000 regular soldiers brought here to preserve order when last week's race rioting and street disorders got beyond control of the police, have been withdrawn, but the National Capital still is depending on a provost guard.

At the earnest request of the authorities the war department recreated the provost guard who had been abolished several weeks ago, and the troops with red sashes on their sleeves, armed with sticks and six shooters in open holsters, patrolled the principal parts of the capital in pairs last night.

Although the race rioting and the attacks by negroes on white women have subsided, street holdups have continued.

The Maryland State authorities have demanded the extradition of one negro whom they charge with an assault on a white woman. The Washington police, who say they believe the man's alibi, have refused to give up the prisoner for fear that he would be lynched when taken over the Maryland line.

The local Maryland authorities, dissatisfied with the conclusions of the Washington police, called in detectives from Baltimore, who declare they have disproved the man's alibi entirely. Gov. Harrington of Maryland, has issued a formal request for the negro's extradition.

Louisville Phone Strike Called Off.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 28.—Approximately 300 employees of the Louisville Home Telephone Co., members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, including girl operators, voted last night to call off a strike that has continued since July 1. It was stated that work would be resumed today at the former pay.

Third Death in Plane Collision.

PANAMA, July 28.—Machinist's Mate L. L. Thomas, one of the three men injured in the collision between an army airplane and a naval seaplane at the entrance to Colon harbor, Friday, died in the afternoon increasing the number of fatalities to three. Lieut. Albert Ellis and Sergt.

Emil von Berg were killed and Lieut. James R. Duggan and Ensign Ostlin, in addition to Thomas, were injured in the collision.

Judging now by the War facts—

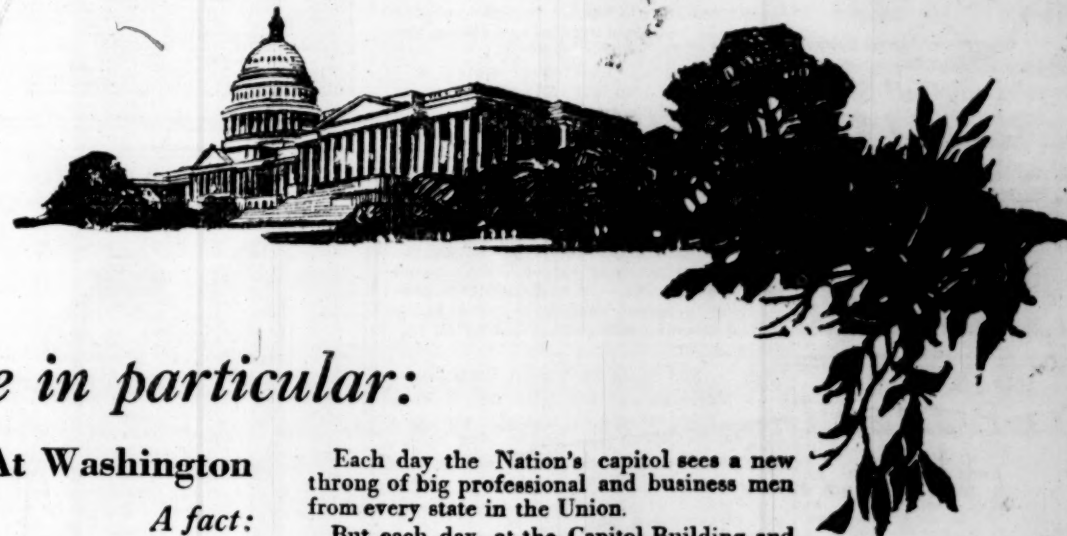

The American Smoke is a cigarette

NOT only because they proved such a necessity with our fighting men on land and sea, but also perhaps because they are the mildest form of smoking, cigarettes have at last come into their own.

Today among young men as well as old, plain men and prominent citizens, the cigarette is more popular than cigar or pipe and as highly respected as either.

One cigarette in particular seems, as the following facts show, to have won a position as America's first choice in smoking. East and West, North and South—nation-wide.

Lippincott & Co.

At Washington

A fact:

Each day the Nation's capitol sees a new throng of big professional and business men from every state in the Union.

But each day, at the Capitol Building and at Washington's leading hotels, including the Shoreham and the Willard, these changing hundreds of men buy more Fatimas than any other cigarette.

In the Army

A fact:

At the big army training camps during the war were thousands of soldiers from each State and Territory. At every one of these camps, Fatima was a leader.

In fact, at many of them Fatima was steadily the one largest seller. And over 740 million Fatimas were sent to our troops abroad.

In the Navy

A fact:

The officers in our Navy come, of course, from every part of America.

But, regardless of where they come from, Fatima suits most of them best. Of all the cigarettes sold in Officers' Mess throughout the whole Navy, over 80% are Fatimas.

With our NC Ocean Fliers

A fact:

The 15 American men who flew on the NC-1, NC-3 and NC-4 hailed perhaps from 15 different states.

But of the 15 men, twelve chose Fatimas to keep them company on that long, lonely, daring flight.

"Just enough Turkish"

This, in three words, is the reason. This is why, all over America, Fatimas are the choice of shrewd, knowing smokers.

Fatimas are not a straight Turkish cigarette. Most men find straight Turkish too heavy.

The famous Fatima Turkish blend contains just enough Turkish—just enough to taste right and just enough to leave a man feeling right, even when he smokes more than usual.

This also is why Fatimas today are out-selling all of the fancy, expensive, straight Turkish cigarettes—even at places such as Palm Beach and French Lick, and at America's smartest hotels and clubs.

Y. M. C. A. WAR WORK

COST $97,817,005

Report on Receipts and Expenditures for Two-Year Period Is Issued.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 28.—First detailed accounts of the receipts and expenditures of the Young Men's Christian Association, made public here yesterday by the organization's National War Work Council Finance Committee, show that $125,282,859 was received by it between April 26, 1917, and March 31, 1919. Total expenditures aggregated $97,817,005 in the period named, it is stated, leaving a balance of $27,465,854, a sum estimated to be sufficient to carry on the work here and abroad until next Dec. 31.

According to the figures, which appear over the signatures of George W. Perkins, chairman of the committee; Cleveland H. Dodge, treasurer of the War Work Council; and H. W. Wilson, comptroller, slightly more than 2 per cent of the total funds contributed by the American public were expended for religious purposes in the United States and overseas, while approximately 80 per cent was devoted to the purchase of transportation and distribution of canteen supplies and to entertainments, education and athletic sports.

In addition to the provision of free athletic supplies, which included, among other things, in the United States camps alone, 557,096 baseballs and 20,000 sets of boxing gloves, the report says, the Y. M. C. A. distributed overseas $36,832,449 worth of merchandise. Of this merchandise, $1,784,771 worth, or approximately 5 per cent was given free to the soldiers. This does not include overseas Christmas gifts and entertainments worth $651,983.

$30,000,000 for Home Camps.
Of the $97,817,005 expended, it is shown, more than $30,000,000 was spent in the home camps, more than $45,000,000 with the American Expeditionary Force abroad and $14,409,175 for work with the allied armies and prisoners of war. The balance went for other expenses. The statement explains that the "Y" suffered a loss of $1,478,054 in the operation of army post exchanges and canteens. Also, owing to the depreciation in values of French and English currency, the conversion of the overseas figures at market rates resulted in a book loss of $2,432,038.

The report, the committee makes clear, is not final because the war service of the Y. M. C. A., which reached its maximum in March of this year, is being continued in the United States and foreign countries. Three war work campaigns for funds, it points out, brought from the American public $123,254,052, and this amount, the report states, was augmented to $125,282,859 by sums from other sources.

Some idea of the magnitude of the work accomplished by the organization is shown by the statement that more than 87,000 concerts, vaudeville performances and other entertainments were staged by the "Y" in American cantonnements to an aggregate audience of 42,500,000 at a cost of $1,184,787. In addition, free motion picture shows in the home camps necessitated an outlay of $2,328,271.

550 Huts in United States.
Erection of 550 huts for men in training camps on this side cost $7,498,984, and the outlay for maintenance was $8,865,736. These buildings, says the report, "were centers of religious, educational, entertainment and athletic activities for all men who passed through the camps on their way overseas, or who used the centers through the period covered by the report, and are still using them."

Overseas, the statement says, work of even "a vast scope" was accomplished. The 1900 or more "Y" huts and tents built or leased for the use of the A. E. F. cost $4,801,271, were equipped at a cost of $2,950,421, and operated and maintained at a further expense of $1,614,337.

Transportation of comforts and luxuries to the canteens and soldiers in the field, it is shown, represented a considerable item, the installation of a motor truck service cost $2,702,034, and its operating expense $1,170,761.

The cost of selecting, recruiting, training and paying the sustenance and traveling expenses of all the "Y" secretaries was $1,055,052. Administrative, general activities, campaign and publicity expenses disbursed in New York were said to have totaled $3,164,802.

In accounting for the balance of $27,465,854, as of March 31, 1919, the statement lists assets of the War Work Council on that date at $43,333,166. These included, it is said, $8,835,811 cash on hand; and assets overseas amounting to $18,761,676.

Canteen supplies on hand and in transit on that date also included, it is said, goods to the value of $5,922,591. Outstanding accounts were said to aggregate $9,735,366.

C. T. L. U. TO DEMAND BELL STRIKE MEDIATOR

Delegates Vote to Ask Igoe to Request Burleson to Send Representative Here.

Delegates to Central Trades and Labor Union voted unanimously yesterday at their hall, 2228 Olive street, to ask Congressman Igoe by telegraph to demand that the Postmaster-General send a mediator to St. Louis to interfere in the strike of electrical workers and operators of the Bell Telephone Co.

The action followed a plea for aid made by Miss May E. Matthews of Boston, secretary of the telephone operators' department of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who is leading the girl operators.

Miss Matthews said the company had consented to take back all striking employees on condition that they join an association controlled by the company, and that the company had consented to raise wages of members of that organization. She declared the strikers would sacrifice everything before they would submit to the company's proposal.

The attitude of the police towards the pickets at some of the exchanges, particularly that of Sgt. Collins at the Bonmont Exchange, Beaumont and Locust streets, was denounced by Miss Matthews as abusive.

The delegates, by a vote of 131 to 52, decided to hold the Labor day picnic at Forest Park Highlands jointly with the Building Trades Council, and to divide the profits equally with the late reorganization. This proposal was the subject of a long debate on the right of the Building Trades Council to demand half of the profits. Some of the speakers also objected to Forest Park Highlands on the ground that it is a nonunion factory where sold there.

A resolution was adopted levying an assessment of 5 cents per capita on affiliated unions with which to conduct another test case of the constitutionality of the law permitting police to collect a 50-cent bond fee for the Police Relief Association. Two similar cases were decided against the union by the Supreme Court and a third was dropped for lack of funds.

Woman's Scream Stops Only Attempt to Cart Away Loot; Intruder Chased From House.
Holdup men have gone on another vacation, policemen say, not a single case of highway robbery being reported to the police since Saturday night, when an Olive-Maryland street car was held up at Compton avenue and the conductor robbed of $10.

Truck burglars ventured forth early yesterday morning but were unsuccessful in the only robbery they attempted. They had forced a rear door in the dry goods store of Nick Ollinger, 8214 North Broadway, and were starting to carry out the stock when Miss Leona Otterbach, 8214 North Broadway, heard them and aroused her father, William, H. called policemen and the men fled in their truck. Ollinger said the only things taken from the store was a suit of clothes and $13 from the cash register.

Mrs. Thomeida Spiro, 2218 A South Second street, was awakened at 3:30 a. m. yesterday by a hand on her body and found a burglar searching the bedding on which she and her husband, Thomas, lay. She screamed, awakening her husband. The burglar jumped over the bed and ran downstairs and out through the door, pursued by Spiro. Spiro missed $5.55 from his trousers.

YOUTH WHO RAN AWAY BACK WITH HONORS OF WAR

Sergt. Felix Calcaterra, 19 years old of 5122 Pattison avenue, who ran away from home when he was 16, and who enlisted in the regular army soon after the United States entered the war, has returned to St. Louis after 25 months' service in France, wearing the French Croix de Guerre.
He was in the Sixteenth Infantry, First Division, in which he took part in engagements in which the division participated from June 26, 1917, to Oct. 4, 1918, when he was wounded in the left arm in the Argonne battle. The exploit for which he received the Croix de Guerre was carrying a wounded officer to a first aid station through gas and shell fire at Cantigny. The officer later died.

In the St. Mihiel battle, Calcaterra got a bayonet wound in the stomach, but continued advancing, after killing the German who had killed the bayonet, and applying a first-aid bandage to his own wound.

"The St. Mihiel fight was a picnic," he says. "Once the Germans got started to retreating, you couldn't have overtaken them with airplanes."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

WISETOWN.

When Bertram the Burglar's career in the West
Perforce must determine and cease
We rightly conclude that his work is so crude
That he cannot evade the police.
But we know that in time he will go to New York
And (though bent that he is at his game)
He will soar to success in a fortnight or less
And gain himself fortune and fame.

When Outhbert the Con-Man awakes to the fact That out where the timber is tall
The indigenous licks are not buying gold bricks,
And won't fall for oil stock at all,
He packs up his outfit and goes to New York,
Proceeds, with small effort, to thrive,
And soon he will have a Rolls-Royce and a yacht,
And a mansion on Riverside Drive.

When Gordon the Gangster finds business is bad
In cities like Chi and St. Leo,
He doesn't declare with a wall of despair
He must find something honest to do,
He hops the next rattler en route for New York,
Embarks in the blackmailing trade,
And has nothing to do for the next year or two
But deposit the money he's made.

This "pitiless city," this "town without soul,"
Whose people are "harder than steel,"
Doesn't worry the chaps with the criminal maps
And the equally criminal zeal,
They know, when the raspberry's all that they get,
In Wolfville or Rattlesnake Fork,
That they needn't to care, they can always get square
By working the folks in New York!

Mayor Walker of Delhi

By Bide Dudley.

Chief Executive Places Serenading Under a Ban
and There Is Much Indignation.

MAYOR CYRUS PERKINS WALKER has decreed that serenading under the windows of Delhi homes shall not be tolerated in that city during the remainder of his term as chief executive. He has instructed Constable Pelee Brown to arrest all serenaders and bring them before him. The Mayor's ruling is the result of an incident that happened at the Walker home a few nights ago.

The Mayor, his wife and daughter were just going to bed, when under the window of Miss Walker's bedroom three young men stationed themselves and began to play on two mandolins and a guitar. The music was sweet indeed and Miss Walker, who loves music, peeked out. In the darkness she discerned the forms of the three serenaders.

"Papa," she said, turning to the Mayor, "it must be Henry, Oscar and George. Hadn't I better invite them in and give them some cake and ginger ale?"

"But there is no ginger ale in the house," said Mrs. Walker.

The Mayor said he would sneak out the back door, run down to the drug store and get a supply.

"Applaud them and keep them playing till I get back," he whispered, as he left.

Miss Walker, who is 32 years old and trained in the art of cake-baking, had made a fine chocolate cake that day. While her mother applauded, the young woman went down stairs and cut the cake. She set the dining table, using the best of the family linen, and then hastened upstairs, where she put on a new summer gown of Orange Peko gingham. Mayor Walker soon returned with half a dozen bottles of ginger ale and these were put on the table. Then it was discovered that there was no devil ham in the house and the Mayor again sneaked out and supplied the deficiency.

On his return the second time Mrs. Walker stationed him at the window to applaud while she made some delicious sandwiches. To top things off, the Mayor placed six of his best cigars on the table. Everything being ready, Mayor Walker called out:

"Go to the front door, boys. I want you to enjoy a little feast in payment for your music. My daughter appreciates your playing beneath her window, and she wishes to invite you to her lawn party which will be held next week."

The music died away and the three serenaders went to the front door. Mrs. Walker and Miss Walker lined up behind the Mayor, who threw the door open. The only light burning was the light in the dining room.

"Welcome, boys!" said the Mayor. "Go right into the dining room."

The serenaders obeyed. Just as they emerged from the dark hall into the lighted room Miss Walker leaped before them and said:

"Welcome, my troubadours!"

"Howdy, Miss Walker!" replied the first man.

For a moment the young woman was stunned by surprise. Then she flew at her father.

"Look what you've done," she said. "You've invited Ham Higby and his two brothers in here to eat at 11 p. m. You're an old fool!"

Ham Higby is the colored porter at the Home Hotel, and his brothers have a shine stand at the depot. The three musicians paid no attention to the violent words of Miss Walker, but immediately began devouring the sandwiches and drinking the ginger ale.

"Dis heah es sho' good," said Hep Higby, "but what was dat dah name de young lady done called us?"

"Ah think she called us a troupe o' doors," replied Ham Higby. "Ah don't get her. Pass me a hunk ob cake, Hep."

The Mayor quickly recovered his equilibrium. He told his wife and daughter to go up stairs. Then he said to the musicians:

"I knew it was you fellows, so I prepared for you. Eat all you want and don't forget to vote right when I run for Mayor again in the fall."

After cleaning the table of food and drink, the musicians left. The next day the Mayor's ban on serenading was announced. It set the whole town talking.

There is much indignation.

For the Game's Sake.

He was a typical street gamin and he was so diminutive in stature that I had to stoop to interrogate him. Having done so, I began the following conversation:

"Where do you get your papers, my little man?"

"Oh, I buy 'em in the Times alley."

"What do you pay for them?"

"Fi cents."

"You don't make anything at that?"

"Nope."

"Then what do you sell them for?"

"Oh, just to get a chance to hol-ler."—Denver Times.

Discovered Himself.

Mrs. Diff: How's your good husband getting along?

Mrs. Diff: Fine! Gone to work again at good pay.

Mrs. Diff (astonished): But I thought he had St. Vitus dance?

Mrs. Diff: He has; but he learned to play a saxophone, and then got a swell job with a jazz orchestra in a cabaret.—Buffalo Express.
